WINDY CITY ROAD WARRIOR ROUTE 66 TOURS

The history of Route 66 in Chicago's Loop is best understood when you park your car and put shoe leather on the sidewalks. The Route 66 corridor comes alive when you savor the sights and sounds, venture into the buildings that line the highway, and take a close look at the things that fly by your car window too fast.

Route 66 in Chicago's Loop ran along Jackson Boulevard and Adams Street, parallel thoroughfares packed with historic sites and structures.

ROUTE 66 EAST LOOP TOUR

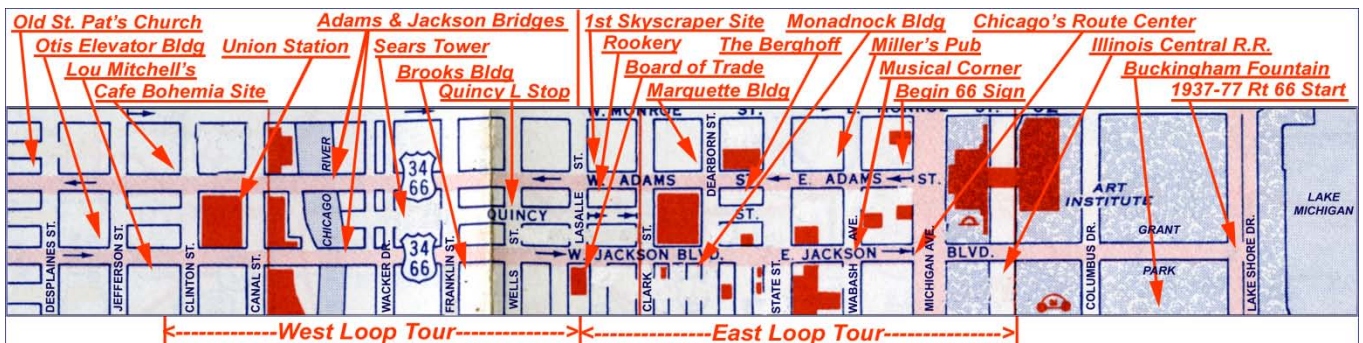

We explore Route 66 on Jackson Boulevard and Adams Street between Michigan Avenue and LaSalle Street.

- See Chicago's Historic Route Center, where Route 66 Began.
- See buildings designed by Chicago's famous architects.
- See how Chicago's railroad history shaped the Route 66 corridor.

ROUTE 66 WEST LOOP TOUR

We explore Route 66 on Jackson Boulevard and Adams Street between LaSalle and Clinton Streets.

- See the Chicago River Bridges that carried Route 66 traffic to and from the Loop.
- See Union Station, Chicago's last functioning railroad station.
- See Lou Mitchell's Restaurant, where motorists have gathered since 1923.

CHICAGO HISTORY & ARCHITECTURE TOURS

We will take you on a walk through Chicago History, Architecture, and Culture at your convenience!

"My group enjoyed your tour so much! I love the blend of general highway history, Chicago city history, architecture, and Route 66 information that you offer in your tour."

--M.B., Oak Park, IL

"Many thanks for a great walk and tour. We have been here less than a day but we feel we have a really good feel for the city."

--J.T., Toronto, Canada

"I was fortunate to go both on the east walk and the west walk. I've been to Chicago many times, but this shed a whole new light on it."

--D. H., Fox Lake, IL
